Baku (Azerbaijan)

The Winter Boulevard is the biggest public park in Baku. Ordered by Azerbaijan's president, Baku's mayor had the park built. Construction took more than a year and today, the Winter Boulevard extends from the Heydar Aliyev Palast all the way to the Fizuli Plaza.

There are 2,000 trees, more than 10,000 ornamental shrubs and 5 fountains spread across 7 hectare. As a result of the park construction, the Shamsi Badalbayli Street had to be lengthened by 770 meters and now reaches to Fizuli Plaza. Furthermore, an area of 212 meters from Samad Vurgun Street to Dilara Aliyeva Street was reconstructed. In addition, a historical building had to be relocated by 10 meters during construction works.
